

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Phillip D. Daninga holds a Doctoral Degree in Agricultural Economics and Management from the Graduate School of Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences-Beijing and possesses a Certificate of Leadership, Ethics and Governance from MNMA Dar es Salaam. He is a researcher and majors in Risk Management. He also possess a Certificate of Leadership, Ethics and Governance from MNMA. He has a good experience in conducting economic and social risk assessment. He has undertaken a number of social economic baseline survey and conducted economic and social impact assessment (ESIA). For more than 10 years he has undertaken studies that aimed at identifying and preparing social management planning. He is experienced in carrying out consultancies that aim at assessing social economic impacts of various interventions related to Public-Private Partnerships.

Dr. Daninga participated in baseline survey for Epanko Graphite Project in 2016 in Ulanga-Morogoro. The study required undertaking Environmental and Social Impact Assessment (ESIA) and Preparation of Resettlements Action Plan (RAP) for the proposed Epanko Graphite mining project based in Mahenge, south- west of Morogoro. In 27th March 2019 to 6th April 2019, Dr. Daninga undertook a socio-economic study and stakeholder engagement in Manyara, Singida, Shinyanga, and Simiyu Regions as part of the ESIA study for the proposed Serengeti Southern Bypass which was part of the Environmental Impact Assessment process prescribed by the National legislations, the Environmental Management Act 2004, and the IFC guidelines. He also participated in conducting stakeholder's engagement for New Luika Gold Mine in February, 2021. Between June and August he participated in a study that aimed at preparing The Country's Annual State of Financial Accountability Report for 2019/2020. He also participated in preparation of Social Closure Plan for Buzwagi Gold Mine in 2020. He is excellent in writing project reports in economic, environmental and other social engagement studies. He has published in local and international journals in the areas of food security, agricultural Insurance and investment policy.

He has previously served as a Head of Department of research and Consultancy, Coordinator of Confucius Institute, Coordinator of Postgraduate Studies and is currently the Head of Department of Leadership, Ethics and Governance.